New York, June 29, 1857. One of the great objections to the interference of the clergy with the political questions of the day is that they do not know, as a general thing, anything about the matdo not know, as a general using anything about the mat-ters on which they propose to speak. They take up all political questions as clergymen, and make no discrimina-tion between what they would be pleased to see done and what it would be legally and socially right to have done. Their views are generally in-practicable, and the whole moral force they put out is so much annuunition wasted. They wanted Congress to unite Church and State, and prohibit Sabbath-breaking by law, and to stay a great evil, which is social in its character and must have a social remedy; they demand a violation of the constitutional right of the people in the passage and enforcement of a sumptuary law. And when they undertake to state a case politically that they are not well pleased with they annot have patience even to state the facts fairly. The New York Evangelist is the organ of the New School Presbyterian Church. It is conducted by gentlemen who wish to appear fair-minded, and are so, when their prejudices are not in the way. They sympathize with the black republicans; they do not like the posi-tion nor the conduct of Mayor Wood in the late conflict; and in their issue of June 25th they publish as editorial and in their issue of June 25th they gublish as editorial the following:

"The Court or Appears.—In common with all friends of peace and good order in this city, we rejoice at the prospect of final relief from the anarchy which we have suffered for the past two months. The court of appeals has readered its decision in the case of the metropolitan police commissioners and Mayor Wood, fully confirming the constitutionality of the present law. By this decision the commissioners appointed by Governor King and the senate are established as the rightful authority, and every power assumed by Mr. Wood, since they entered upon their effice, has been illegal and void. If his exercise of such power has resulted in injury to others, he is, of course, liable to prosecution for damages.

"This result has long been foreseen by calm and sober men, who have been spectators of this contest. Nothing but the most wilful obstinacy could have led the mayor to this open defiance of the law. By his course he has thrown the city government into confusion; he has given occasion to violence and bloodshed, and covered our good name with disgrace. And now at last, after all his boasting and bluster, he is obliged to submit. At the beginning he might have yielded with dignity and grace. Now he is forced from his position by the stern decree of the law. A more humiliating position for the chief magistrate of a city can hardly be imagined. Instead of retiring with honor, he has waited to be termed out by the courts. His police, which a week ago he mustered a thousand strong at the City Hall to defend him, he must now turn adrift, since he has no money to pay them. From his position as a city despot he is reduced to comparative weakness and contempt."

This paper is printed in New York. The editorial rooms look into the Park. No building stands between the City Hall and the office of the Evangelist. It would have taken about two minutes to have ascertained whether or not the Court of Appeals had made their decision. But no such pains was taken; and these gentlemenreverend divines, as they are—set down and pen an arti-cle, for their thousands of readers, that has not in it one particle of truth, and make a dark, personal assault on the chief magistrate of our city, when no such decision has been made, and, of course, no such consequences fol-

And this illustrates the manner that the so-called religious community became so excited and so worked up last fall; and illustrates the means used to drive us on to the rock of sectionalism, and caused sober men to believe that a "vote for Fremont was a cup of cold water to Jesus Christ." If men are no more reliable for their facts, what can their opinions or expressions be worth! It was the quaint saying of Lorenzo Dow that a "clergyman in politics was like a monkey in a China shop; he could not possibly do any good there, but might do a great deal of harm."

Mayor Wood has obtained two significant triumphs the past week. He was called up before Judge Hoffman to answer for contempt of court in resisting the process of that court. It was the warrant for arrest issued from the court that led to the riot of the 16th instant, when the military were called out. In the sixteen affidavits now before the judge, Mr. Wood completely purged him-self of contempt, and the judge ordered his discharge from custody; and in the matter of the arrest of the recorder, Judge Russell, on a writ of habeas corpus, not only discharged the mayor, but at the same time stated, in plain and unequivocal words, that the recorder, in or ering the arrest of Mr. Wood under the peculiar circumstances, not only went beyond his power and jurisdiction, but exhibited more malice than justice.

The decision of the court of appeals is looked for with great interest. The Tribune a few days since professed to have some "despatches from Albany with the decision." Besides this, all is in doubt. But suppose the law is sus-tained: suppose New York is to be ruled by the junto at Albany: suppose the party backs of the republicans, with all their aliases, are to be fed and clothed by our city: the pickings will be leaner than many suppose. Not one vacancy in the municipal police has been filled under the old charter which the Albany tyrants have not o'clock. touched in the new metropolitan bill; the power is given to the mayor and common council of New York to create and discipline a "day and night police," and this power is now in being. And as fast as a man leaves the mayor's police his place is supplied by an appointment on the The new law gives Simeon Draper and his condjutors only seven policemen. These they have got. This is all they can have. This is all the New York police they can ever control; and when the law is sustained-if it be sustained-the day and night police will come into the field—the only police corps New York will have all the police New York will need. And on parade the seven police commissioners will march along, leading off their seven men, while the mayor, at the head of his "day and night police," will parade his hundreds. And if the gentlemen don't like the law they will have to try again.

Monthly, under the new conductors, is out and looks finely. The fortunes of that print teach some significant lessons. The popularity of Harpers' Magatook all the wind out of the sails of the Putnam The Harpers' Magazine took national ground in the late national canvass. Amid the madness and excitement of sectionalism Harper sailed along as of old. It went so far as to tell one or two good anecdotes that seemed to tell rather favorably for the democratic party. The mat ter was suggested that, as an offset, it would be wise in Putnam to take the opposite sids, and on the Fremont flood swim on to fortune. The hint was acted upon The black flag was hoisted; a black republican opapor was made the editor. The theory failed under the old administration. It is now in new hands, and all the lovers of black-republicanism who do not find enough of it in the Evening Post and Tribune, in the paper and pul-pit of the Beechers, in the so-called religious press, and in the sermons of the day, but need an additional supply for dog-days, will do well to help themselves to Put

MANHATTAN.

Sincular Effects of Laguraing.—One of our citizens, who was within about one hundred and fifty feet of the tree on the common struck by lightning last Thursday, found his watch did not go as usual after that time. Without suspecting the cause of the difficulty, he took his watch to Mr. Bond, and, upon examination, it was found the steel balance-wheel was so charged with magnetism that it was rendered useless. The blades of his pocket knife were also highly charged by magnetism from the electric fluid. Similar effects have sometimes been produced on board vessels struck by lightning, but they are not of frequent occurrence on the land.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

Most intranots.—A short time since an effort was made by some unprincipled wretches to destroy the Central College building. There is a large cross beam in the centre, extended from one of the side walls to the opposite wall, and this is supported by uprights placed on a corresponding ground sill. The villains, with large stones, succeeded in removing all of these uprights from their bearings, with the exception of one, which, from the extraordinary pressure upon it, could not well be driven out. It is probable that they would have succeeded in their designs ha i they not been fearful that the falling walls would crush them beneath their weight. The whole building was in most imminent danger of going down a hopeless wreck.—De Mouse Chizes, 20th.

An ingenious piece of mechanism, designed to enable a person to record his thoughts or observations while travelling in the cars, in a crowd, or in any place where ordinary writing apparatus cannot be used, has been invented by Mr. Benjamin Livermore, of Hartland, Vermont. The paper on which writing, or rather printing—for it resembles the telegraphic system of printing—is impressed, is colled around two cylinders which revolve as the lines are completed, and the letters are worked by a set of keys. No ink is required: the letters are worked by a set of keys. No ink is required: the letters are located by a prepared blue paper, against which the writing paper is pressed at each movement of the keys. The machine works with great accuracy and much facility, and is very compact, not exceeding four inches in length by about two and a half inches in well without taking it from the pocket. By it a blind person might be taught to write.

Mesers. Holmes, Elton, Turrell, & Co., at Waterbury, Connecticut, are manufacturing a newly-patented alloy, which resembles gold very strikingly in its color, and the case with which it can be worked. The metal may be treated in the same manner as gold, and is equally ductile and malleable. The alloy, which receives the name of "oreide," is not only very handsome in its appearance, but it takes gilt or silver-plating in a manner superior to any other metal, and is withal very cheap.

The Elwood (K. T.) Advertiser learns from a friend, who received a letter from Fort Union, that a company of traders on the Santa Fe route, near the mouth of the Picket Wire, about 200 miles from Union, were attacked, and four Americans murdered by the Cheines and Kinwa Indians. The company were principally Mexicans, and it is supposed that they joined with the Indians in committing this outrage.

A new Pacific Railroad Company was organized at Omaha, early in the present month, under the Nebraska territorial law, for the construction of a railroad to the South Pass. Gen. NIAGARA SUSPENSION BRIDGE.—This bridge appears to be a profitable concern. During the past year, ending April, the report of the company, recently published, states that the revenue amounted to $41,963; disbursements, $4,507—thus showing that the working expenses are but small. The dividend which it pays averages 15 er cent.—Scientific American.

The trunk has since been identified as the property of Alexander Biley, who states that it was stolet from his residence on the Island. A Sweeping Arriche!-Yesterday afternoon Seventh street, between E and F streets north, was swept, for the first time in our municipal history, ron norming! The announcement that the performance would take place at six o'clock, p. m., attracted a large number of spectators, among whom we recognised several of the city fathers, whose edes may be required for the purchase of a sweeping machine, with the appurtenances of horses, engineers, and grooms; or, if not for these, to pay a contractor for performing the work according to agreement. The con-trivance is simple—two wheels, attached to a strong frame, cart-fushion, and two horses, and a pendent circular wire brush, which is revolved rapidly as the team locomotes. The dirt is thus gradually swept from the sides of the street to the centre, whence it is carted away.

The experiment was successful; but whether the plan, if carried out on a large scale, would be more economical than the present mode—periodically practised in several parts of the city—is a question for economists to deter-mine; the wear and tear of brushes, the "boarding and lodging," and care of horses, to enter into the calcula-Of one thing, however, we have no doubt, namely; no matter how many patent sweepers may streets.
